

A platformer
With melee sword mechanics
Attacking enemies that shoot at you

There will be pickable items,
 Maybe a potion bottle that gives you double jump temporarily
 A fragment shard that gives you dash abilities with limited dashes
 A shield that can be picked up but broken with a certain amount of hits
 A potion that makes you fast
 A gun that is pickable with a certain amount of ammo
 A sword that is pickable

The more the player progresses the more of these things he can get.
The player can have a health bar and a item bar, max items are 2,

For the potions the player can choose when to use them.

Slow enemy: a close range slow enemy that deals a lot of damage
Fast enemy: a character's move fast but they don't do much damage and a lot of knock back
Big enemy: does a lot of damage and has a lot of health but is super slow

A fighting platformer game where you are a dog fighting zombies, collect coins, and find keys to continue the game. You have to complete 25 levels and fight zombies that get harder and harder each time. After completing the first 5 levels and learning the mechanics the game jumps in difficulty making the experience much harder to beat. With lower time limits and keys being hard to find you will have to do quest and complex systems.

